■ FOOD DRIVE: Collection Dec. 3

Old fire hall housing food drive

WAYNE CAMPBELL
PelhamNEWS Staff

Jane Gilmour didn't wait long for her answer.

The acting president of Pelham Cares asked town council for a favour Monday night.

The group needs a large space to sort food during the annual Pelham Community Food Drive on Saturday, Dec. 3. It also prepares about 60 Christmas hampers on Dec. 14 and Dec. 15.

Last year, Pelham Cares shared the former Canadian Tire Store on Niagara St. in Welland with the Salvation Army.

■ TRANSPORTATION: Rides to medical appointments

More volunteer drivers needed

WAYNE CAMPBELL

When he answers a call from Pelham Cares, Tom Boyce usually says yes.

"We'll call him when we're in a bind and he'll take as many assignments as we offer," said Betty Brown, client services co-ordinator for Pelham Cares.

Boyce is one of 19 volunteer drivers for Pelham Cares who take clients to doctor, dentist and other medical appointments.

"I can say no," said Boyce. "But I've been at it long enough that we all become good friends and I know I'm needed."

He points to his yellow Fonthill Lions Club baseball hat with "we serve" across the front.

"That's what we do. Besides I like to talk yak and they listen," he chuckled.

"You get great satisfaction from this. People are very appreciative of what we do."

Brown is looking for more volunteers to ease the workload on drivers like Boyce.

They take more than 75 regular clients to doctors offices, testing centres, rehabilitation areas and hospitals across Niagara.

Occasionally, they make trips to Hamilton, Toronto and once to London, said Brown.

Ideally, Brown said they want to limit the workload on volunteer drivers to two or three times a month. The number of calls depends when drivers say they are available, she said. Most appointments are between 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday to Friday.

In 2009, Pelham Cares provided 363 rides. In 2010, that jumped by 29% to 432.

The numbers are going up because the senior population is increasing in a town has no public transit services.

Jean Welsh uses the ride service for dental and eye appointments in St. Catharines, blood tests in Thorold and the occasional doctor's visit in Welland.

"It's excellent. The drivers really take care of you," she said. "I need a little one-on-one help with my walker."

"Those interested in volunteering can find information on Pelham Cares website www.pelhamcares.org, by calling 905-892-6300, emailing info@pelhamcares.org or dropping into its office at 124 Hwy 20 E. in Fonthill, the former Donut Diner, 9 a.m. to noon Monday to Friday.

■ ANNIVERSARY: Serving greatest need

Fonthill Kinsmen reach 60th year

WAYNE CAMPBELL
PelhamNEWS Staff

The Fonthill and District Kinsmen Club kicked back and gave itself three cheers.

The service club branch marked its 60th anniversary last week during its regular meeting at the Old Pelham Town Hall.

"It's all about the camaraderie," said public relations director Kevin Twomey reflecting on the evening of speeches and goodwill.

“The camaraderie they have is so telling.”

Mayor Dave Augustyn

"It's always been about the camaraderie," he said looking back at the history of the Canadian service club.

Veterans of the First World War formed the first club in 1921 when they missed the friendships that grew among them during the war.

"Today we can't understand life in the trenches" he said but the club members do understand the warm feeling of a team.

The Fonthill club is the largest and one of the strongest in its district, national club officials told the local Kinsmen.

It has a special program to support cystic fibrosis research raising $2,500 in its recent raffle toll.

This year it will mark the 50th year for its a seniors Christmas party.

It recognizes local volunteer achievements with its citizen of the year award and Paul Bray memorial for youth volunteers.

Each spring it holds a Home and Leisure Show at the Pelham Arena and last year it took over the Kinsmen Craft Show, which will be held Oct. 15 and 16 at Centennial Secondary School in Welland.

It has helped sports teams, seniors groups, high school graduates and a variety of causes as it lived up to its motto "Serving the Community's Greatest Need."

Mayor Dave Augustyn praised the club for its outstanding record of service.

"This group is very, very strong," he said.

The members have raised an amazing $1 million through the years.

"It's so wonderful to have such a service club working in Pelham community, the mayor said.

"The camaraderie they have is so telling" when you sit in one of their gatherings.

■ FOOD DRIVE

Space not an issue in fire hall

"That space is not available this year, she told council.

Gilmour asked to use the former Pelham Fire Station No. 2 in Fenwick.

"Approximately 80 per cent of the food we receive in the year comes primarily through the food drive, we require a rather large facility to sort this food," she said.

Without such a space, "we would be forced to send most of the food to our sister agencies in Welland."

Just after she finished her presentation and while Gilmour was standing at the lectern, town council passed a motion to say "yes".

Gilmour accepted.

"It's such a relief to have that off our mind," she said as she left the council chambers.

She said Pelham Cares is already receiving calls from people wanting to volunteer to sort the food from the drive. Volunteers can call 905-892-5300 or e-mail info@pelhamcares.org.

The Saturday morning food drive on Dec. 3 will mark its 20th anniversary.

■ CANCER: School holds own version of Rankin Run

Crossley steps up for cancer treatments

WAYNE CAMPBELL
PelhamNEWS Staff

Over six years, E.L. Crossley Secondary School students have raised $70,000 to fight cancer.

During the first five, the student council sponsored Terry Fox runs. This year, it stepped in another direction. It held a Rankin Cancer Run and Walk.

"The money goes directly to Niagara cancer services," said student council prime minister Shannon Wassenaar to explain the decision by the council.

During an assembly, before the walk on Thursday students heard from cancer survivor Trisha-Lee Halamay.

The Brock University student was hit by cancer in 2004 when she was in Grade 6. She spent "two years and 20 days" going through intense cancer treatments in Hamilton and then gradually lessening treatments while in high school at Governor Simcoe.

"I always thought cancer was something only old people got," she told the Crossley students about her initial reaction to learning she had it.

Here was a form of blood cancer, which typically attacks young people.

As a cancer survivor, she wore an orange Rankin Cancer Walk T-shirt during her visit, rather than the typical cancer walk white T-shirt.

She said she was delighted to speak at Crossley because one of her best friends, while they took treatments, was a Crossley student.

"Every day I had to go to Hamilton because we did not have the facilities in Niagara," she said.

In an interview later, Halamay said she would "never take back the experience of having cancer. It gave me a lot more than it took away. It gave me a sense of purpose."

She speaks at schools because she wants to alert young people to presence and dangers of cancer.

Run director Mary Ann Edwards introduced Halamay, who she coached and taught.

Edwards said the Niagara Rankin Cancer Run began in 2004 with the intention of supporting cancer services in Niagara.

Over the years the walk, usually held in St. Catharines at the end of May, has raised $2.54 million.

It has gone to services such as Hospice Niagara, Wellspring Niagara and hospital cancer programs in Welland, Port Colborne, Port Erie, Grimsby and St. Catharines. Grants go to charities and hospitals for treatment and education related to cancer.

The last Rankin Run in May raised $604,000, Edwards said. The next one scheduled for May 26, 2012 at the Grantham Centre in St. Catharines. The run takes donations throughout the year and encourages fundraisers such as the one at Crossley.

She pointed out Crossley had a team in the last run and more schools in the region are holding their own events. Information about the program is available on its website: www.rankincancerrun.com.

Wainfleet mayor April Jeffs a former Crossley student, praised the students initiative in putting together the walk.

Pelham mayor Dave Augustine cheered them for taking a positive step to improve local cancer services.

Principal Ed Goerzen pointed out to the students at the assembly it was raining outside "but Crossley students are tough enough to handle it" he said as he sent them out on the five-kilometre course through Ridgeway and Pelham Centre.

Have your say Tuesday

You can suggest your pet project for the 2012 town budget on Tuesday. Town council will open its budget preparation season with a public meeting at 7 p.m. in the council chambers.

For the past few years, councillors have invited residents to submit ideas.

The first meeting drew a crowd to the Pelham Public Library. Perhaps it was the novelty of being asked.

The past couple of years, attendance dropped.

Mayor Dave Augustyn said the exercise is a good way to start budgeting. It gives residents a say.

"We have already had submissions e-mailed and brought in," he said.

Town councillors and staff do pay attention. They keep a record of submissions and have acted on some as opportunities arrived.

As a project from a budget suggestion, sidewalks along Pelham St. near Glynn A. Green Public School came to mind.

To help the process along, you're asked to give a copy of your presentation to the clerk before or at Tuesday's meeting. Limited your time to 10 minutes.

If you miss the meeting, ideas are still welcome by e-mail to ourbudget@pelham.ca or by mail to Nancy J. Bozzato, Town Clerk, 20 Pelham Town Square, P. O. Box 400, Fonthill, ON L0S 1B0.

This meeting may have a twist. Town councillors could take time to kick around broad concepts and strategies for budgets.

The final capital budget will go to council Dec. 5 and the operating budgets along with water and sewer budgets on Feb. 6.

The role of promoting Pelham beyond

Your Town Council has made some early steps toward the development of a plan to promote Pelham as a destination for shopping, for agriculture, for community events and for life-in-general.

You see, for years now, some have suggested that the town needs to be more involved in a comprehensive plan to promote the great things about our community. While many individuals and groups are currently involved in promoting one or more aspects of Pelham, we do not have a common vision or a coordinated plan.

For example, the Pelham Business Association developed a "Think & Buy Local" campaign a few years ago and the "Did You Know" Campaign last year about local businesses. The Welland/Pelham Chamber of Commerce manages the tourist booth every year. The Fonthill Bandshell Committee promotes the hugely successful Bandshell Concert Series.

Dave Augustyn
MAYORAL VIEW

The members of Pelham's dedicated Service Clubs promote successful events like the Biketoberfest, the Pelham Horsehow and the Santa Claus Parade. A group of community volunteers developed the amazing Pelham Summerfest in July of this year. Artists and cultural enthusiasts have hosted the annual Pelham Art Festival for 25 years.

Members of the agricultural community manage the weekly Pelham Farmer's Market. Sports groups - from hockey, soccer, baseball, to cycling - each have their own tournaments and events that promote Pelham.

And many other events, celebrations, and great things that people do to promote wonderful aspects of our community.

But, if asked, "What is Pelham?" what would you answer? Or, what common parts of Pelham should be promoted among ourselves and to those outside of our town?

And, what about our schools, our neighbourhoods, our churches? What about our golf courses and horse farms? What about the natural beauty of our town? How are these elements drawn together?

Well, when council deliberated on the matter, we realized that these answers come only from you and other members of the community itself.

That's why Council - lead by councillors Gary Accursi and Peter Papp - have endorsed the creation of the Pelham Promotional Advisory Committee. The committee will develop and coordinate a promotional plan for the town.

The Committee will include representatives from Pelham's agricultural sector; Pelham Business Association; Welland / Pelham Chamber of Commerce; development community; recreational communities (both winter and summer); the Mayor's Youth Advisory Council; Pelham Arts Festival; local service clubs; Pelham's cultural sector; from a "citizen-at-large"; and from Pelham Canada.

As the advisory committee develops, you should hear more about promoting Pelham.

You may contact Mayor Dave Augustyn at mayordave@pelham.ca or read past copies at pelhammayordave.blogspot.com.

Food and farming action plan 2021

The Agricultural Task Force at Niagara Region recently circulated a draft document called: Golden Horseshoe Food and Farming Action Plan 2021 Summary.

It proposes to lay out a plan to make the Golden Horseshoe the leading food and farming cluster in the world. Several quotations in the document caught my attention and are the subject of this column.

A leading food processor commented, "Think of agriculture as the solution provider to society." This follows on the agricultural slogan, Farmers Feed Cities.

A Globe and Mail article captured the importance of agriculture to our economy: "The country's largest manufacturing sector is no longer one that produces auto parts or high-tech gadgets like Blackberries. It's food. The sector is the largest manufacturing industry by sales, the most recent statistics show sales set a recent last year, topping $80 billion - more than textiles, paper, machinery and aerospace combined."

Brian Baty

The economic action in the Golden Horseshoe alone is estimated to be $12.3 billion.

Food safety is increasingly a concern for shoppers as witnessed in last week's tragedies in the United States related to the consumption of cantaloupes.

The trust we Canadians have in our safe food supply to gain the confidence of the world, Canada can become renowned for food of outstanding quality as Switzerland is for the integrity of its finance sector" claims the president of Ontario Agri-Food Technologies.

Of interesting note came a comment from The Grower, March 2011 issue which claims "Walmart Canada is estimated to be the fourth largest buyer of fruits and vegetables in Canada. Their pledge is to buy 100% local in season."

We, as informed consumers, can make this demand of all suppliers by paying attention to the labelling noting country of origin.

The Import and export figures for food are rather dramatic. A Local Food organization claims that "Canada imports more than 53% of its vegetables and over 95% of its fruit. Red meat imports have risen 600% over the last 40 years. In fact, in 15 years, our food imports increased by 160% while Canada's population increased by only 15%. Ontario, with some of Canada's best farmland, has annual food imports valued at $4 billion from bananas to more exotic citrus and other fresh and processed products. For each apple exported from Ontario, five are imported. For pears, the ratio is one exported for every 700 imported."

The President and CEO of Farm Credit Canada says it all.

Agriculture is the backbone of a strong and healthy Canada. It's one of the countries top five industries, contributes $130 billion to our economy each year and employs one in eight jobs. The bottom line is that agriculture matters to Canada."

Brian Baty is a Niagara Regional Councillor for the Town of Pelham and a member of the region's Agriculture Task Force. baby@niagararegion.ca

What is the importance of healthy eating for denture wearers?

The relation between significant tooth loss and the ability to chew fresh fruits, vegetables and meats, has a great impact on the nutritional value of one's diet. Toothless or partially edentulous individuals are at a higher risk of malnutrition. Edentulous individuals with poor nutrition intake may be at higher risk for a variety of diseases. For example those who consume little vitamin A are at a higher risk for various forms of cancer, heart disease and rheumatoid arthritis. Similarly the dietary deficiencies of vitamin E are associated with various cancers, heart and Parkinson's Disease and low vitamin C and thiamine levels lead to a reduced immune system function, cardiovascular disease, hypertension and nausea, constipation as well as appetite and weight loss. Another ill effect of a low nutrient diet is a loss of muscle mass and strength caused by inadequate intake of protein, which could further increase frailty. An increased intake of fat and cholesterol observed in toothless patients have been associated with obesity, diabetes mellitus, as well as arteriosclerosis.

What can I do to prevent any of this happening to me?

Considering the vast implications of a low nutrient diet, it is worth acknowledging that nutritional balance and good health can be significantly improved and restored with the use of a well made denture, and a vitamin supplement regime planned by your doctor. A well made denture, will allow you to introduce back into your diet all the nutritionally laded foods such as fresh fruits and vegetables, proteins and nuts that were avoided when chewing with an ill-fitting, poorly designed denture. Individuals with implant supported dentures, greatly improve their food choices by including more hard to chew foods that are rich in nutrients, therefore greatly improving their health status.

To switch to a more balanced diet may be as easy as having well fitted dentures, that allow for improved chewing and grinding function. The ability to better chew fruits, vegetables, meats and nuts will increase your nutrient intake and may decrease your risk of various disease. For more information see your Denturist.

■ COUNCIL: Fire Prevention Week

Recent fires used to make the point

WAYNE CAMPBELL
PelhamNEWS Staff

Fire prevention officer Saskia Holditch used startling local fire photos Monday as she outlined her goals to town council.

Fire Prevention Week begins Sunday with the Pelham Fire Department promoting installation of sprinkler systems, creation of home escape plans and the proper positioning of smoke alarms.

"We have had a number of fires this year including these two," as she flashed photographs of the charred remaining basement of a Sumbler Rd. home and the gutted interior of a Canboro Rd. home.

The Sumbler Rd. home caught fire while the family was at the beach.

"The smoke alarms worked but since it was in a rural area no one heard them," she said. The original wooden house, which she showed in a real estate advertisement insert, was completely destroyed.

In the Canboro Rd. fire, smoke alarms going off saved the life of a sleeping resident. They were checked a few weeks before the fire.

Holditch said in Canada sprinkler systems are not mandatory, as they are in some parts of the United States.

"However, if you are building a new home they can be installed inexpensively," she said. "They can make a big difference."

Every family should have a home escape plan and practise it twice a year. "Make sure it includes a meeting place outside," she said. "We can waste a lot of time looking for people who may be having coffee with the neighbours."

Smoke alarms are compulsory on each level of a home and outside bedrooms, she reminded council.

"You'd be surprised how often we find alarms with dead batteries or are disconnected, when we do inspections," she said.

On Tuesday, during Fire Prevention Week, Ponthill firefighters from Fire Station No. 1 will carry out door-to-door inspections.

Fenwick firefighters will show off their new Fire Station No. 2 with an open house from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., which will include a Transformer-style vehicle.

North Pelham firefighters will also have an open house from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Fire Station No. 3 on Sixteen Rd. It will feature fire extinguisher checks and training.

During the week, firefighters will visit schools.

On Thursday at 1 p.m. Holditch will take a fire truck to the Pelham Public Library to donate books and demonstrate bunker gear.

"We get good exposure and the books spread the message of fire safety," she said.

Financial Independence with an Independent Financial Advisor

Larry J. Gallant
FINANCIAL VIEW
ADVERTORIAL

The summer of 2011 has seen huge stock market swings. The causes still exist, with concerns over European debt, slow U.S. recovery and the threat of a double-dip recession. In times such as these, many people are seeking the advice of a Financial Advisor who can take a fresh look at their investments to help them protect their money and take advantage of a lagging market. They might also be frustrated by unanswered questions regarding the poor performance of their portfolio.

The problem is that many Financial Advisors in the Niagara Region are employed by investment companies that promote their own mutual fund products or recommend a handful of fund companies with whom they have a mutually beneficial working relationship. They are considered "tied" advisors; their hands are tied to what their company promotes.

So how does the average investor ensure they get the best product to meet their needs when their Financial Advisor recommends their own companies products over any other? After all, there are literally hundreds of investments available in Canada. It's very simple. Investors have to take a closer look at the benefits of using an Independent Financial Advisor for their money.

Independent Financial Advisors are able to select from all the products available in the marketplace, ensuring their client gets the right product that fits their individual needs. Like the chartered banks and other large investment firms, Independent Financial Advisors are authorized and regulated by the Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada (IIROC). This organization maintains a strong commitment to the integrity of the Canadian marketplace and the protection of investors.

Firms that are members of IIROC are also registered members of the Canadian Investor Protection Fund (CIPF). This organization protects investors from financial loss due to the insolvency of a member firm. If an advisor cannot show proof of affiliation with these two organizations, steer clear.

"Independent Financial Advisors are fully licensed, fully registered, fully regulated and fully driven by the success of their client's investments"

Independent Financial Advisors are bound by IIROC rules. This requires them to provide advice most suited to their client's personal situation and risk tolerance. When advisors recommend financial products, they must fully explain to their client the benefits provided from the investment, the charges associated with the purchase or redemption, the risks of the investment, the product's flexibility, and the issuer's financial strength.

Ask any seasoned market analyst or financial guru and they will likely tell you the same thing... investing with the support and guidance of a qualified Independent Financial Advisor is the absolute best way to go. There are no conflicts of interest, no monthly quotas to fulfill and no head office pressure. Independent Financial Advisors are fully licensed, fully registered, fully regulated and fully driven by the success of their client's investments.

Switching to an Independent Financial Advisor is a very simple process. In most cases, portfolios can be transferred between investment firms without selling investments. Many people stick with a poor Financial Advisor because they believe it is too complicated or time consuming a task to switch. My advice, don't become complacent with your hard earned investments. A fresh set of eyes from an Independent Financial Advisor can sometimes make all the difference!

To arrange a free no obligation review of your investment portfolios, contact me at 905-892-2100, through email at larry.gallant@queensbury.com, or visit my website at www.gallantfinancial.ca

■ COUNCIL: Local crew wins big in New York

Medic Terry Beckett holds a trophy he won as best medic with a fire department extrication team during a firefighters competition in Long Island, New York. The Pelham team finished first. In addition to Beckett, members of the team included volunteer firefighters Joe Kita, Frank Lehmann, Nick Korakas, Lindsay Smith and Rob Belchior.

Pelham extrication team raise $5,000 from e-waste

WAYNE CAMPBELL
PelhamNEWS Staff

Pelham Fire Department's extrication team pulled out a lot of cash during its E-Waste Day.

In a presentation to Pelham town council Monday, firefighter Joe Kita said 450 cars rolled through the e-waste station setup at town hall on Saturday, Aug. 27.

They unloaded 29,450 kilos of old computers, printers, monitors, cell-phones and other electronic items filling all six bins at town hall plus another one at Pelham Fire Station No. 1.

"Beamers Hardware emptied its basement almost filling a bin itself" he said. By the end of the afternoon, Ontario Electronic Stewardship paid the firefighters $5,650 for the waste items.

Kita said just over $2,000 was used to purchase stabilizing jacks for the competitive extrication team.

The rest was distributed to the three Pelham volunteer firefighter associations, who assisted during the day.

The team will use the jacks when it competes in extrication team competitions.

They will also be used for local emergency work to stabilize cars during removal of victims in accidents.

"What we learn in competitions, we pass on to other firefighters during our regular training," Kita said.

Those sessions at the three fire halls have paid off.

The Pelham team recently won an international competition in Long Island, New York. It defeated teams from full-time and volunteer fire departments.

Pelham medic Terry Beckett won the best medic award.

"It's a compliment to our regular training we did so well," said Kita. "Half our team has been at it for less than a year."

Fresh Air Fund organizer praised

This year, 105 New York City children found out once again just how special summer is in South Niagara Ontario. Fresh Air Fund hosts, volunteers and local supporters dedicated their time and efforts to help these inner-city youngsters experience simple summertime pleasures, including afternoons of swimming, fishing at sunset and roasting s'mores over a campfire. None of this would be possible without Cheryl

O'Neill, our local Fresh Air Fund volunteer leader, who works throughout the year to make sure host families and children have the opportunity to enjoy memorable summertime experiences together. I invite you to join Cheryl O'Neill and the local Fresh Air Fund committee to help spread the word about the wonderful opportunity of hosting next summer.

The Fresh Air Fund, an independent, not-for-profit agency, has provided free summer vacations to over 1.7 million New York City children from low-income communities since 1877. For more information on how you can help to continue this wonderful tradition of volunteering, please call Cheryl O'Neill at
